

A COMMITMENT BETWEEN LAW ENFORCEMENT
AND EDUCATION AGENCIES TO IMPLEMENT D.A.R.E.
(DRUG ABUSE RESISTANCE EDUCATION)

D.A.R.E. is a drug education prevention program developed by university researchers and taught by uniformed police officers.

The program has been highly successful. Its success is based upon the uniting of two of society's most influential entities: law enforcement and education. The success of the program requires that a mutual commitment be established between those agencies involved.

The signing of this agreement establishes the mutual commitment by police and school personnel to provide our children with the knowledge, attitudes and skills necessary to resist pressures to experiment with drugs, tobacco, and alcohol or participate in violent behavior or gang activity.

THE AGREEMENT

We, the undersigned, are committed to work together to provide the D.A.R.E. curricula to the children of our community. We have considered and agreed upon the issues we believe are important to establish a formal working relationship. The details of our agreement have been recorded. Both the law enforcement agency and the education agency have a copy of this agreement on file.
